INDETERMINATE TERM

Given Tony Barto for Cutting a Fellow Workman.

Tony Barto, the young Hungarian arrested at the Sugar Ridge camp of Hungarians for stabbing a fellow workman in the quarry there, plead guilty in common pleas court this morning to the charge of cutting with intent to wound, and was given an indeterminate term at the Mansfield reformatory. The Hun who was stabbed, was released from jail, as he was apparently an innocent participant of the fight.

DEATH AT STONY RIDGE.

On Monday evening, May 16, at 10:10 o'clock, death came to relieve Mrs. George Robinson of Stony Ridge, from the severe suffering she has endured for the past several months, caused by cancer from which she has been ill for several years past.

She was born in Cambridgeshire, Eng., in 1844, and was married to Mr. Robinson there in 1866. They came to America in 1871 and settled near Perrysburg. Three years later they removed to Stony Ridge, where they had since resided.

Seven children were born to them of whom six survive to mourn with the husband the death of the dearly beloved wife and mother. They are: Nathan, James and George Robinson. Mrs. Samuel Cable and Mrs. Otto Brim of Stony Ridge, and Mrs. Philip Hass of Toledo. Three brothers and one sister live near Chicago. Her mother, now 87 years of age, resides in Minnesota.

For many years she had been a faithful member of the Methodist church and was very active in Christian work. Among the citizens of Stony Ridge none was more highly respected and generally regarded than she.

In the passing of Mrs. Robinson the community in which she lived loses one of its most kind hearted and best beloved citizens. She was ever ready to give help and comfort to the sick and distressed, and her death is deeply mourned by all.

NEARLY MEETS DEATH

A. G. Mercer, Bowling Green, Has Close Call From Death.

A. G. Mercer of Bowling Green, had a narrow escape Saturday afternoon from being crushed or smothered to death in the stone bin of Mercer's crusher at the edge of this city. A sheet of iron pipe had broken loose and Mr. Mercer stepped into the bin to take it out to prevent the bin being stopped up. When he stepped upon the mass of crushed stone he began sinking until only his head and shoulders were visible. His loud cries for help brought it, but it was nearly an hour before he was extricated from the heavy mass that was wedged about his body. Outside of bruises he is none the worse for the experience, although he sank to the floor when released.

GUILTY OF LARCENY

Man Arrested at Bowling Green Is Sentenced in Michigan.

Henry G. McComb has been sentenced at Corunna, Mich., to not less than six months nor more than five years in the reformatory at Ionia, Mich., upon his plea of guilty to larceny. McComb was arrested at his home in Bowling Green on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy from a Corunna liveryman three years ago. After the crime he lived in the west a couple of years, but a few weeks ago he came to Bowling Green to work in an automobile factory, assuming the name of Brown. In order to get his children out of the home at Miami, Lucas county, he was compelled to resume his right name. This proved his undoing, as his identity thus became known to the Michigan officers.

Lion Fondles a Child.

In Pittsburg a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through Colds, Croup and Whooping cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of Croup," writes Mrs. George B. Davis of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. It's a wonderful medicine for babies." Best for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Hemorrhages, Weak Lungs. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by C. P. Champney.

THRESHERS TO ORGANIZE

County Organization to be Perfect—ed Saturday.

A call has been issued to the threshers of Wood county to meet at the court house at Bowling Green on Saturday, May 28th, at one o'clock p. m., for the purpose of forming a county organization. Other counties fill follow suit and they will be united into an organization of North-western Ohio.

They claim that this step has become absolutely necessary and give as some of the reasons that has made it so, the fact that the increased cost of machinery, repairs, hired help, and last, but not least, the extra labor-saving attachments they must buy for the benefit of the farmer. The business has got so there is not a living profit for the machine owners. We venture to say there is not one average farmer in ten that knows or realizes what a modern up-to-date outfit with all attachments costs today. They do not believe the cost of a complete rig would buy a nice little farm. Say one worth from three thousand to three thousand five hundred dollars. The truth of this statement they can very easily verify at any of the branch houses where threshing machinery is sold. The running of a threshing machine is a continued expense to the owner. You must figure the cost of repairs at fifty to one hundred dollars a year, and it is often more than that.

Now let us see how much these extra modern attachments saves the farmer. The first is the band cutter and feeder that saves him one man and costs from one hundred and fifty to two hundred dollars; next is the bagger, saves one man, costs eighty dollars, and last the wind stacker, which saves the farmer from four to five men, the cost of which is $250.00 and they can't be bought for a cent less. Still we are threshing for less money than we did when the horse power rig was in use which cost $600.00, when they used the old silt straw carrier, and had to have six men on the stack to take care of the straw.

In 1900 the farmer with oats at 20c a bushel paid $1.00 for the threshing of $10.00 worth of grain. Today he pays from 45c to 55c per $10.00 worth of grain. The same is true of wheat. He never got his threshing done as cheaply as now.

Now consider the length of time this expensive outfit is in use which is from 30 to 50 days in a year. Suppose the thresher has extra good grain and threshes from daylight till dark, and runs from forty to fifty dollars in one day, the man he is threshing for will hold up his hands in holy horror and say "you are getting rich!" when the fact is these big days come very seldom. It is more often from $12 to $20. Now I hear some one say, "If the business is so poor, why don't you get out of it?" Simply because we do not feel like sacrificing eight hundred to a thousand dollars which we would have to do if we sold out. After a machine has run one day it is classed as second hand and you are well aware what second hand machinery sells for at forced sale.

POISONED BY PTOMAIN.

Elsie Fairchild, six, of Bowling Green, narrowly missed death Saturday evening while her mother and three sisters were made very ill from eating canned tomatoes at their home in this city. A physician worked for two hours over the little girl, who was thrown into convulsions by the ptomaine poisoning.

ITCHING ECZEMA WASHED AWAY

Is it worth 25 cents to you to stop that awful, agonizing itch? Surely you will spend 25 cents on your druggist's recommendation, to cool and heal and soothe that terrible itching eruption?

By arrangement with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, we are able to make a special offer of a 25-cent bottle of their oil of wintergreen compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription. Call, or write or telephone to Chas. P. Champney.

We absolutely know that the itch is stopped AT ONCE by D. D. D. Prescription, and the cures all seem to be permanent.

NO MORE PLUG CAR

Maumee Valley Electric Line cut off the Junction Cars.

If you wish to go to Bowling Green, you can now take your choice—walk to the Junction, or to the Fort, or ride over to Maumee.

That is the rule now, since the Maumee Valley Rail & Light company have decided to cease running a car to Eckel Junction to connect with the Bowling Green local cars.

This decision was put into effect on Saturday night when the cars were withdrawn from the line.

The claim made by the company that the line has never paid is probably the only reason why the car has been taken off the line.

FAVORS PERRYSBURG

Decision of Judge Baldwin in Perrysburg Marshal's Suit.

On Monday morning Judge Baldwin rendered a decision in the case of R. C. Schaumloeffel against the Village of Perrysburg, in which Mr. Schaumloeffel brought suit to compel the village to pay him a salary of $30 per month instead of $9 per.

It appears that the village council reduced the marshal's salary to $100 per year after the village went dry on the supposition that there was not much work for a marshal, and that the village finances would not stand the old salary of $30 per. It is also claimed that the ordinance reducing the salary was not properly passed, and on this ground the suit was based.

The case was heard last week by Judge Baldwin and his decision was withheld until Monday morning, when he decided in favor of the village, and his decision sustains the village in declining to pay more than the $100 per year.

COURT HOUSE CULLINGS

Judge Baldwin Cleaning up the Heavy Docket.

Another call of the docket on Monday resulted in making a heavy assignment and wiping off some of the old cases. The jury was dismissed Monday and the case of Shaner vs. Reed, a suit to collect damages for failure to complete a real estate deal, was tried to the court. Decision was reserved.

James M. McConnell, doing business at the Stoll Casket company, has brought two suits against E. O. Leathers, whose Christian name is unknown, for $119.19, which he alleges is due him as the result of the making over to him by the defendant of a cognovit note.

Louisa M. Bingham has filed suit for a divorce from her husband, William Bingham. She alleges in her petition that they were married at Larue, this state, in the year 1897 and that they lived together until the tenth of this month. At that time he came home drunk, maltreated her and the six children and smashed the furniture. She says married life with him has become unendurable, asks for a divorce, for the custody of the children and for the household and personal effects of the family, and if she can prove her charges, she will probably get the divorce, as the judges in this district don't have much use for drunkards and wife beaters.

Julia Fauble Barnthistle has filed suit to recover dower rights in several tracts of land in Middleton township and in the village of Haskins, having quite a large value. The defendants in the case are the heirs at law of her late husband.

Jennie B. Ketcham has filed suit in common pleas court against Clara C. Beal and others, in which she asserts that she holds a note against them for $400, dated five years ago, and on which there is interest due and unpaid. She asks for the foreclosure of a mortgage to satisfy the

SEVENTEEN SENIORS

Pass from High School to Real Work of Life.

On Wednesday evening the class of 1910 made its last appearance as proteges of our schools.

The platform of the auditorium was a scene of artistic beauty planned by Seniors and made attractive by the presence of the young ladies and young gentlemen of 1910, all in the beauty and best. American beauties, the class flower, together with the green of myrtle and the class colors had been used vine-like tracery on the walls.

An audience which taxed the capacity of the hall had assembled through their interest in the schools, in the class and in the drawing of the Way scholarship.

After the introductory number by the orchestra and the invocation the programme followed as published with the exception of the one number on Photography.

The class of 1910 adds seventeen young people to the alumni of our High school. The graduating exercises were held in the auditorium, which was taxed to its capacity with the friends of the graduates.

The exercises were somewhat of a departure from the regular routine. First was a symposium upon 20th Century Agriculture. Esther Swartz showed the wonderful advantages which the 20th century would bring to the sons and daughters of farmers. The clubs, associations, agricultural courses in schools and in colleges, institutes and schools would place the young men and women of the farm in a position equal to that of the professions. These young people are deserving this and will take advantage of it for their own good and that of their country.

Beet Culture was presented by Eugene Budd. He did this in a masterly and practical way, showing the great opportunities offered in beet culture. He made it plain that intelligence was demanded, but showed that the great importation of sugar could be stopped by a wise use of the arid lands of the U. S. The net profit per acre was from $8 to $16.

What the modern country home should be was discussed by Edna Bitton. The house can have and should have all the advantages of water, heat and light. Library and modern conveniences that the city dwelling has. The grounds can be made attractive by well kept lawns, shrubbery, flowers and trees—in fact, they should be choice bits of nature, giving rest and beautiful thoughts to owners and passers-by.

Roland Herkimer presented the "Birds as Assistants to the Farmers" in a concise and forcible way. How much they add to the joy of living by their beauty and their songs; how much they assist by their constant destruction of insects, bugs, larvae, etc., was made clear by statements and statistics. The English sparrow was shown to be more of an enemy than a helper, because it drives away the native birds and eats only 1-3 as many insects and harmful bugs. There should be efforts made for their destruction.

This exercise closed the symposium, which while new was certainly interesting and worthy of the best thoughts of our rural communities.

The second group took part in a symposium on Physical Science. Frank Powell discussed steam and the steam engine. From finely executed drawings, illustrating cylinder and piston, steam-chest and sliding valve, steam ports and exhaust, he explained the movement of the piston and the admission of steam alternately to the ends of the cylinder and the escape of the dead steam to the air.

The use of steam in the double and triple expansion engine was shown and its application to the turbine. The attention of his audience showed their interest in this feature of the exercises.

Leo Burch followed, presenting the subject of air pressure. By use of the air pump he showed the power of air pressure, its effect upon

OUR SOLDIER DEAD

Decoration Day to be Observed in Perrysburg.

Arrangements have been completed for the proper observance of Memorial day in Perrysburg.

As previously announced in the Journal, all members of Wollford Post, together with all old soldiers of the sixties, the Spanish war veterans, school children, and citizens will assemble at the town hall at 9:30 a. m. where the procession will be formed and directed by Comrade E. L. Kingsbury as marshal of the day, will march to the cemetery and decorate the soldiers' graves with flowers.

At 1:30 p. m. our citizens are requested to meet with the old soldiers at the town hall, where a patriotic program will be carried out. The order of the program is as follows:

Song—Choir.
Invocation—N. B. C. Love.
Song—Choir.
Solo—Mrs. M. B. Cook.
Song—Choir.
Address—Rev. E. J. Webster.
Song—Choir.
Benediction—Rev. N. B. C. Love.

Soon again shall we assemble, to perpetuate the day
Set aside in recognition of our soldiers, laid away;
Though it is a day of mourning, yet our hearts will swell with pride
As we think of our brave heroes who have fought, and bled, and died.

Then let us gather garlands, 'tis the least that we can do,
To deck the mounds where now are laid the ones who wore the blue.
To protect our blessed Union they have sacrificed their lives,
Leaving with us weeping orphans and their faithful, mourning wives.

Let us teach the little children to revere our blessed land,
And make them all united in one great and loyal band.
Let's impress upon the minds of these little hearts so true
That we owe our mighty Union to the boys who wore the blue.

To the coming generation, we soon must yield the way,
And to them will fall the duty to perpetuate the day
That we hold in sacred reverence, with a loyalty sincere
As we stand with heads uncovered beside the soldier's bier.

Let us not forget the living, while we tribute pay the dead;
Let us give to them the glory, ere their last farewells are said
As they feebly totter onward, nearing now the last roll call,
E'er they cross the last entrenchment, e'er they scale the final wall.

On next Monday we shall gather on this day that's set apart,
And we'll strew their graves with roses, while our sad and aching hearts
Beat in unison with others, for that soul that's set at large,
Gone to join Emmanuel's army, with an honorable discharge.

—Bert.

ON TOP AGAIN

Perrysburg Ball Team Defeat the Aquinas of Toledo.

In one of the best ball games ever witnessed on the home grounds, the Perrysburg ball team defeated the Aquinas of Toledo by a score of 5 to 3. The game resulted in a pitcher's battle between Divins of Perrysburg and Hauck of the Aquinas, and Divins had all the best of the argument. Only four hits were made off his delivery and 22 men swung vainly in the air in an attempt to locate his elusive curves. In the first inning the visitors secured a run on an error, a stolen base and a hit. Two more were secured in the eighth on a hit, a base on balls and some ragged work on the part of the home team. Perrysburg secured four runs in the first inning on a base on balls, two hits and a fine exhibition of base running. Their other run came as the result of a passed ball and wretched fielding by the visitors. With perfect fielding the score should
